

Advanced Ophthalmological Care

Special Issue Information

We presently have variety of Special problems open for submission. Special problems highlight rising areas of analysis among a field, or offer a venue for a deeper investigation into associate degree existing analysis space. Advanced Ophthalmological Care is a world open access, peer reviewed journal for visual science specialist and ophthalmologists. This serves the analysis field by publication original articles in clinical and basic science analysis and different articles regarding the sense of sight. it's earned through unbiased referee, elevated learning, advancement in innovation and discovery. reviews articles and innovative analysis reports from clinical observations, clinical investigations and relevant laboratory investigations apt within the field of medicine. The journal principally centered on publication of medical and clinical analysis of basic and trendy sense of vision, that area unit concerned in recent advances of diseases like eye disease, uveitis, refractive surgery, cataract and different membrane issues and conjointly different connected advances of eye science. T we tend to area unit accepted article submissions for the approaching issue within a month if articles area unit acknowledged for post-production. If associate degree author interest lies between our requirements, munificently undergo author tips.

The journal provides variety of advantages to the authors and editors WHO concentrate on a current topic furthermore on the journal. It offers a well-defined location for papers that relate to a standard theme It acts as promoter for a developing field by providing extremely visible forum for the subject. It encourages authors to submit top quality work by providing them with a centered review method and publication schedule. It promotes clarity of the topic, experimental soundness and advances in information. Generate packaging and lift awareness of the scope of topics lined within the journal. Encourage new authors to submit their work. Attract new readers and subscribers to the journal. This journal aim to produce a chance to experiment with innovative or uncommon content. And additionally to publish with a bunch of alternative editors. Every step it Encourage new concepts and avenues for analysis. Help authors to acknowledge and develop effective analysis proposals. The Journal warmly welcomes all the students to propose a Special Issue per their experience and space of analysis interest. they must additionally arrange for timely submission and unharness of the special issue. when evaluating and acceptive the proposal for a Special Issue, the scholar are selected as Special Issue Editor for that Special Issue Title

Keywords

- Diabetic retinopathy.
- Glaucoma.
- Macular degeneration.
- Amblyopia (lazy eye).
- Blocked tear duct.
- Droopy eyelid.
- Thyroid eye disease.
- Retinal detachment.
- Uveitis.
- Other ocular health conditions